

December 4th, 2013

We have recently finished yet another project with Systems West, Inc. and look forward to working them on the next one. They have always exceeded our expectations and do impressive work. I would strongly recommend using them for your next construction project.

Our family and dealership has worked with Systems West on all our commercial construction needs for close to thirty years. Our father began working with Ray back in the 1980's and it is a pleasure for us to now be working with the third generation of the successful business.

The most recent project we completed was with the Deign-Build method. We were very happy with this process, everything from the design through the final finish. Systems West always delivers on our needs and their promises.

I encourage you to give them a try on your next construction project.

Sincerely,
